Resume Match Analysis

Upload your resume and the job description to Claude.
Then use these prompts:

Act as a Senior Recruiter hiring for this specific company and role.

Analyze my resume against the attached job description.

Provide:

- An overall match score out of 100.
- The top 5 missing keywords or skills.
- The 3 biggest red flags that a hiring manager would notice within the first 10 seconds of reviewing my resume.

Be specific and explain your reasoning.

Rewrite the Resume

Rewrite my work experience section to better match this job description.

Naturally incorporate the missing keywords without keyword stuffing.

Remove the red flags you identified while keeping everything truthful and accurate.

Make the resume sound stronger, more senior, and more results-oriented.

Do not invent achievements or experience that I don't have.

ATS + Hiring Manager Scan

Now act as both an ATS resume scanner and a hiring manager reviewing 200 resumes in one sitting.

Scan my updated resume exactly as you would during a real hiring process.

Tell me:

- Which sections would likely be skipped.
- Which parts fail to grab attention.
- Which bullets feel generic or weak.
- Which information should be moved higher.
- What would make you reject this resume.

Then rewrite those sections so they immediately capture attention during a quick scan while remaining professional and truthful.

Change Alingment

Finally, create a detailed change log.

For every edit you made, show:

1. The original version.
2. The new version.
3. Why you changed it.
4. Which hiring or ATS principle the change improves.
5. Whether the change increases ATS matching, recruiter readability, or hiring manager impact.

Do not skip any modifications, even small wording changes.

I want a complete explanation of every decision so I fully understand the reasoning and won't need follow-up clarification.

Key takeaways

- ✓ AI won't get you hired. A targeted resume will.
- ✓ Always optimize for both ATS and humans.
- ✓ Keywords matter, but only when they sound natural.
- ✓ Your resume has about 10 seconds to make an impression.
- ✓ Every bullet should prove business impact, not just list responsibilities.
- ✓ Never submit the first version of your resume.
- ✓ Perfect CV size is 1-2 pages.
